

STATE OF ALABAMA
PROBATION AND PAROLE OFFICERS

THE PROFESSIONALS

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of this agency, as a member of the criminal justice system, is to enhance the safety of citizens by providing the Board of Pardons and Paroles and the Courts, which have probationary powers, with investigation and supervision of adult felony offenders who are placed on parole and probation.

PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS

Probation and Parole Officers serve the courts of the state by conducting investigations and supervising adult felony offenders released from the State's prisons on parole.

Probation and Parole Officers serve the Alabama Board of Pardons and Paroles by conducting investigations and supervising adult felony offenders released from the state's prisons on parole.

The Probation and Parole Officer's duties are complex and demanding in energy and skill. Good organizational skills, patience, and flexibility are called for. An officer must be able to set priorities and, as developments occur, reprioritize so that several tasks may be accomplished within deadlines. Tact and diplomacy in interacting with the criminal justice system, elected officials, law enforcement officers, and the public is essential. The desire to stay abreast of changing technologies and to utilize these technologies is essential.

RESPONSIBILITIES AND DUTIES

- Investigates offenders' personal, social and legal history so that information needed by the Board, Court, and other agencies is complete and accurate.
- Composes investigative reports that contain accurate and complete information so that reports are completed and distributed within the designated time frame.
- Supervises offenders' personal, social, and economic circumstances so that offenders have the opportunity to become habilitated and productive citizens.
- Supervises offenders' legal activities so that offenders are living within the conditions of probation and/or parole and society is protected.
- Collects money as related to probation/parole supervisor from offenders as ordered by the Board of Courts so that offenders' financial obligations are met.
- Monitors and reports offenders' compliance with rules and conditions so that infractions will be reported to the Board or Court within the second month of noncompliance or within 72 hours of arrest.
- Issues/executes writs of arrest so that non-compliant offenders are incarcerated and can be taken before the Board or Court and appropriate action may be taken as evidenced by activity in supervision notes of delinquent cases.
- Interacts with the criminal justice community so that positive public relations are maintained.
- Maintains caseload data so that records are accurate, complete, and can be immediately retrieved and used.

Probation and Parole Officers provided the supervision, surveillance and guidance necessary to successfully reintegrate offenders into the community.

Probation and Parole Officers interview applicants for probation and parole concerning their social and criminal history and investigate, verify, and evaluate the results of these interviews. Officers give oral and written reports of investigation to the Courts and Parole Board. Officers instruct probationers, parolees, and inmates regarding the rules and conditions of probation and/or parole and the orders of the Court and Parole Board.

Probation and Parole Officers supervise probationers and parolees following their own discretion, the agency's policy manual, procedure manual, automation manual, Court/Parole Board orders, and Federal and State laws. Officers collect supervision fees and insure that restitution and court costs are paid through the court system.

Probation and Parole Officers issue and execute writs of arrest for probationers and parolees in violation of probation, parole, or Federal and State law and assist other state and local law enforcement agencies as requested.
